

ALEXANDRIA, VA. THURSDAY EVENING, OCT.

Norhing shows the popular revolt, at the "old order of things" more than a glance at the list of senators and representatives who have recently been beaten fer renomination or have retired in fear of defeat. The list is not yet complete, for there are more nomielection next month, many members. most of them republicans, face disaster. Thus far seventy-eight members have to the republicans after the passage of the McKinley tariff bill in 1890. Of the House. Of the senators, six are republican and five are democrats, at least two of the republicans being reasonably certain already of being suc- eral Wyman of the Marine Hospital ceeded by democrats, while none of the Service, to Assistant Secretary Hilles, democrats will be succeeded by a republican. The losses among the House dangerous, but every possible precaumembership to date show forty-nine tion was being exercised to prevent the republicans and eighteen democrats defeated or retiring. Among the democrats are five who voted with the Fitzgerald coterie to support Speaker Cannon in his rules fight, while among the observed but would not be subject to republican insurgents only one. Charles N. Fowler, of New Jersey has been defeated in the primaries, and three have retired, two of whom have become republican nominees for the Senate. Aldrich, Hale and Burrows are the most prominent of the old guard republicans who have been forced out.

The South American countries have recently made a movement toward a confederation, and they may in the near future find it to their advantage to form a coalition with the Latin nations of continental Europe. and thereby defy the big stick of the United States. Some people believe the Roman Empire will be reproduced at sometime in the world's future history. Should France, Spain and Portugal form a coalition, Italy might find it to her interests to become an integral part of the combination. In such an event the city on the Tiber would have another act to perform in its history.

THE chairmen of the city and county republican committees, which met in this city vesterday afternoon, did a wise thing when they decided not to put a candidate in the field against Congressman Carlin. Several aspirants would probably have accepted the nomination save for the price of the canvas, but this was considered too steep for the empty honor. Mr. Carlin is so sure of re-election that no one who would venture to become a candidate against him could entertain any hope of Captain John Steele, of Ohio, a fedof success. FROM WASHINGTON.

Correspondence of Alexandria Gazettel Four of the six justices of the Supreme Court have arrived in Washington to take up the work of the October term which begins next Monlay. Justices White, Harlan, McKenna and Lurton are on hand. Justices Holmes and Day will arrive tomorrow or next day and Justice Hughes, as vet without his title, will arrive the latter part of the week. When the court sits there will be three vacancies on the bench, as Justice Hughes does not take his seat until he has been sworn in on Monday. The other vacancies are those caused by the death of Chief Justice Fuller and the resignation of Justice Moody Justice Moody has so far recovered that he is making preparations to come to Washington during the winter. It is said that if he recovers fully he will give up the pension granted him by Congress and take up private practice again. Until President Taft selects a chief justice and an associate justice to fill the vacancies, the court will not hear the important cases which will make the forthcoming term nations to be made and then, at the a memorable one. Portugal's "uncrowned queen." Mlle. Gaby Deslys, whose twinkling toes brought Manuel to his knee, a subject instead of a king; cost the poy ruler his fortune and his throne, and caused him to be sent out into the night like a hunted beast; plunged a kingdom into civil war that snuffed out hundreds of lives and sent a dynasty rolling in the dust, today glorified her relations with the youth ful ex-monarch in an interview with a representative of the United Press. Last night great throngs packed the music hall to see the chic little French woman. At her throat sparkled a magnificent sunburst of diamonds, wrung from bankrupt Portugal by Manuel that he might buy his way into the favor of his mistress. To the audience each sparkling stone represented hunger and poverty in Manuel's

'Yes, I was Manuel's mistress," she I did not make capital out of my relations with Manuel. The fact is, I have kept a quiet reserve. Recently, in Paris, the Variete Theater offered me a huge salary to appear billed as Manuel's mistress. I refused indignantly. The same theater then presented a sketch wherein the king and myself were the two chief features. I cannot be blamed for that. I never asked the papers to call me the 'Uncrowned Queen of Portugal.'

'I first met the king firteen months ago in Paris, where I was dancing. He was brought behind the scenes and introduced to me after the performance. It was love at first sight, and I became his mistress. The love I bore him and See for yourself that I am to get $25,000 for appearing three months here. I believe that my income is greater than that of the king.

"When it was reported that he neant to marry me, one Paris paper rightly said: 'Deslys will not abandon the great kingdom of the stage for the small kingdom of Portugal. Manuel first met her after her reent dances in Paris, when her act transcended any of those of the French capital in daring. In it she lisrobed to a single garment and dia-
